BELLE GLADE-PAHOKEE, FL.

Commission seats to be decided Tues.

By TOM KISKEN

SOUTH BAY - Residents here will have their chance to determine the occupants of two city commission seats in the municipal election, Tuesday, March 13.

Voting booths will be opened from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at South Bay City Hall. Votes will be counted in West Palm Beach by the Palm Beach County's Supervisor of Election's office.

Five candidates are vying for the two seats. In Group One, incumbent Willie Marshall defends his position against Mike Underwood.

The Group Two race includes incumbent Rennick Morris, Jim Shropshire and Clarence Anthony.

A runoff election for the Group Two seat, if no candidate wins more than 50 percent of the vote, would be held Tuesday, March 27.

The following is a summary of the candidates and what they say are the major issues facing South Bay.

Group One

MARSHALL

Running for a second term on the city commission, Willie Marshall, 33, 165 N.W. Sixth Ave., said he is very confident about his chances.

"I feel just great about what's going on," he said.

Marshall said if re-elected, he would continue to work toward bringing some sort of industry to South Bay, mentioning a VA hospital, a convenience store such as Winn-Dixie and a fast food national chain restaurant, "as possibilities to study."

Marshall said another key issue is allowing more trailer parks within the city limits. The people want

Representing all the people is the theme of Mike Underwood's Group One commission campaign.

"The main thing to stress is that I'm for all the people. I'm willing to work for the city," said Underwood, 30, 345 S.E. Third Ave.

Underwood said he feels his experience in city government would help him as a commissioner. He is currently assistant recreation director for the City of Belle Glade.

One of the bigger issues of the election is finances, showing the people where their money is spent and why, Underwood said.

Another issue of importance is the area youth, Underwood said. Currently, the city offers very little recreational activities for children and Underwood said he could help bring activities to South Bay, again citing his Belle Glade experience. "I know

Quality representation for the people is one of the major issues facing South Bay residents Tuesday, said Clarence Anthony, candidate for the Group Two seat.

In his first shot at a public office, Anthony said South Bay needs representatives who can speak up and get things done.

"We need to let Palm Beach County and the state know we are a viable community," stated Anthony, 24, 207 Villa Largo.

MORRIS

City commission incumbent Rennick Morris said he is running on his performance over the last two years.

"The overall strength of South Bay has improved immensely in the administration ... I feel that by being elected a second term I can help finish some of these things we began during the past two years," stated Morris, 55, 185 N.W. Sixth Ave.

Morris cited the improved housing and streets conditions as

SHROPSHIRE

The key issues facing South Bay are growth and how to stimulate it, said commission candidate Jim Shropshire.

Once South Bay begins to grow, many of its other problems, including housing, will improve naturally, said Shropshire, 50, 910 N.W. Fourth St.

"When you induce growth, housing goes with it. You can't do one without the other," he said.

The key to this growth issue is improving the transportation arteries which make the town the crossroads of the Glades, Shropshire

South Bay residents City Hall, Pahokee residents vote at the Pahokee High School gymnasium. Belle Glade residents vote at a variety of locations, depending on where they live. Both locations for each individual is listed on the voter card. Any questions about both locations can be directed to the Palm Beach County Supervisor of Elections Office at 996-5586.

South Bay opposes sunset proposal

SOUTH BAY - City commissioners voted their opposition to the municipal sunset proposal which would mean the death of South Bay and a host of other small cities.

The proposal, being considered by the State Select Committee on Growth, would eliminate all cities with population under 5,000. South Bay, with an estimated population of 3,675, is one of 20 cities in Palm Beach County to fall under this limit.

The proposal, being considered by the State Select Committee on Growth, would eliminate all cities with population under 5,000. South Bay, with an estimated population of 3,675, is one of 20 cities in Palm Beach County to fall under this limit.

Commissioners, in their meeting Tuesday,

March 6, agreed to send a letter stating their feelings to all members of the State Legislature and to the Florida League of Cities.

Mayor Donald Tanner said, "If the proposal would mean the death of South Bay. It's a pitiful law as far as I'm concerned."

Commissioner Rennick Morris agreed, stating the proposal was just another indication of the continuing disregard for small cities. "They're just gnawing at us bit by bit," he said.

According to members of the growth committee, the proposal is designed to eliminate small cities which cannot offer full services to its residents. These cities would merge with nearby larger municipalities.

In a letter to State Rep. Samuel Bell, D-Ormond Beach, sponsor of the proposal, Tanner pointed to South Bay's fire, police, wastewater and water services as indication of the full service city residents are

Truck and train collide Tuesday

PAHOKEE - A truck and train, both carrying sugar cane, collided on CR 747 near Pelican Lake, Monday, March 5, at about 1:30 p.m.

Both the driver of the truck and the train were treated for minor injuries at Everglades Memorial Hospital.

According to Trooper Darient Beavers of the Florida Highway Patrol, the driver of the trailer apparently failed to notice the United States Sugar Corp. train as he approached a rail crossing. The train struck the cane trailer, causing both the train and the trailer to slide into the canal on the north side of the road.

The driver of the 1964 International truck, which suffered about $35,000 worth of damage, was Pedro Rodriguez, 46, 417 N.W. Sixth St., No. 4.

The driver of the train was William J. Bayley, 68, 176 N. Flame, Pahokee.

There was one passenger in the train who was not injured. Charges are pending, according to Beavers.

Accident on SR 80

BELLE GLADE - Rescue workers had to cut away part of a car to get out passengers involved in a two-car collision with a truck on SR 80, Friday, March 2.

One person suffered injuries in the accident, Charles Stevens, of Cincinnati, and was reported in good condition at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

The accident occurred near the Agricultural Research Experimental Station on SR 80, late Friday afternoon when a truck collided with one car then veered across the highway and hit the car driven by Stevens.

Stevens' wife Marilyn was treated at Glades General for minor injuries and released.

THE carnival arrived in South Bay Tuesday night and brought fun for the kids with it.

Carnival fun begins

SOUTH BAY - Its carnival time in South Bay.

The rides, food and games began Tuesday, March 6 at 6 p.m. just off US 27 and will continue through Sunday March 11.

Hours will be 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. on weekdays and 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. No entry fee is being charged and parking is free.

The carnival, organized by the South Bay Police Department, is sponsored this year by the Behavioral Awareness Training, an area youth program. "It's for the kids," said Ray Sanford, of Carnival International who is putting together the event.

The carnival will include about 20 rides, all sorts of exotic foods and about 20 game booths, Sanford said.

Chamber meeting slated

PAHOKEE - Pahokee Chamber of Commerce directors will discuss chamber goals with members of the business community in a special meeting Monday, March 12, at 8 p.m., in the Prince Theater.

Chamber President James Bennett said directors are inviting all chamber members, business representatives and other interested residents to attend the meeting.

"We want them to tell us what they think the chamber can do to help area business and the community," Bennett said.

A survey distributed earlier in the year, gauging public opinion on several local issues will be discussed at the meeting.

Only about five members of the business community have indicated they will attend the meeting, Bennett said, adding that this is the community's chance for input into chamber decisions.

ONE PERSON was injured in this SR 80 accident Friday.

a trailer park and they should be allowed to have one, he stated.

People are constantly moving out of South Bay and into Belle Glade trailer parks, he noted. Additionally, the extra population a trailer park would bring to South Bay would help lower utility bills.

"It we had a trailer park, more people would be here in South Bay, helping to pay for our utility bills," he said.

Marshall said he is proud of his record as a commissioner the past two years. The housing growth of the city in the last years is just one indication of the commission's performance, he said, noting that for the first time in years several houses are being built in the South Bay area.

A South Bay native, Marshall is supervisor of sugar cane planting at Talisman Sugar Corp.

what programs can be offered."

Underwood suggested commissioners investigate the possibility of dropping departmental responsibilities and have all commissioners jointly responsible for all departments.

"You're a commissioner for the city, not just one department," Underwood commented.

On the possibility of bringing new industry and business into South Bay, Underwood said the city should look into ways it can make itself more attractive to potential newcomers.

"The main thing now is the reason why we don't have these things and then try to change those factors," he said.

Of his first attempt at office, Underwood said, "I feel it's been a good experience. So far, I'm happy I decided to run and I'm willing to work if elected."

Underwood has lived in South Bay for about four years and in the Glades for about nine years. Before being hired by the city of Belle Glade, he was a history teacher at Glades Day.

Shropshire

said. If the highways and railroad conditions were improved, tourists would begin to frequent the town.

Commissioners should also consider developing some sort of attraction in the town to help lure tourists, he said, suggesting an amusement center or an enhanced marina as possibilities.

There are several ways to keep the city growing, Shropshire said, noting that as an experienced businessman, he has many ideas. "The University of Hardknocks is hard to beat," he said.

Shropshire stressed he was running for the commission seat not for his own interest, but to work toward the benefit of the city.

Pondering his first attempt at a city office, Shropshire said, "Even if I don't win it's been a lot of fun."

Hopefully, he said, his presence in the race has stimulated some ideas and changed the focus of the election somewhat. He expressed pleasure that all candidates had identified industry and growth among the town's best needs.

A resident of South Bay for seven years, Shropshire is the manager of the Econo Lodge, on US 27. He is a native of Yuma, Arizona and served 20 years in the United States Air Force.

Morris

projects which began during the last two years and need to be addressed more in the future.

Efforts to cut utility bills and to bring a VA hospital bill to South Bay began in the last years and will continue, he said.

The police department is an excellent example of the current commission's accomplishments, Morris said. Two years ago, after the city election, the entire police force resigned. Through teamwork and much effort a new force was built which more than equals any in the past.

noted Morris, who is also police commissioner.

"Now South Bay can boast of one of the finest police departments in Palm Beach County," he said, adding that crime rates have dropped significantly in the last two years.

If re-elected to a second term, Morris said he would continue to work for the entire city. Other goals include providing more jobs for South Bay residents by bringing industry here, Morris said.

Also, industry would bring more people into the town and would cut utility rates, he said.

Commissioners should consider redefining the qualifications needed to run for city office, Morris stated. Specifically, the residential requirements need study, he said, explaining currently a candidate must live in South Bay for just one day before qualifying as a candidate for city commission.

Morris, a native Jamaican, has lived in South Bay for 28 years. He is currently shop foreman for the garage at the Palm Beach County School Board's West Area office, in Belle Glade.

Industry is of major importance in the city, Anthony agreed. The way to get industry in to the city is by promoting South Bay, he said, envisioning something along the lines of the "I love New York" campaign.

The city should try to lure a business which is unique to the area, such as K-Mart, he said. Residents throughout the Glades would utilize such a business.

Currently a planner for the Palm Beach County Department of Community Development, Anthony said his experience would help him work on the housing problems facing South Bay. With a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and a master's degree in public administration, Anthony said his education and his experience would help him in his duties as a commissioner. The seat Anthony is running for includes responsibility over the police department. "I'm versed in trying to get economic help and federal funds," he added.

Looking forward to Tuesday's election, Anthony said, "I'm enthusiastic and also a little bit nervous."

A graduate of Glades Central Community High School, Anthony has personally lived in South Bay since May of 1983. His family has lived in the town since 1980.

MAIN STREET PLAZA EXPANDING

BELLE GLADE - The Main Street Plaza at 141 South Main Street in Belle Glade is expanding, according to owner, Tom Bonavia. Bonavia said a two-story addition is planned for the east end of the building adjacent to Western Auto.

He said office suites are available from 450 square feet on the second floor with store space available on the ground floor.

"All units come completely finished inside with individual restrooms, central heat and air conditioning," explained Bonavia. "Lighted off street parking will be available in the front, and the ground floor store spaces will have rear entrances for loading and unloading from an asphalt lot," he said.

The present tenants in the Main Street Plaza include Glades Travel Agency, Renchen's Ice Cream and Subs, E F Hutton, Western Auto, Tri Value Hardware, Dr. Rene Alvarez, D.D.S., State Farm Insurance and Hutcheon and

Surveyors. "This is an opportunity to join one of Belle Glade's busiest areas," Bonavia said. The leasing of stores and offices has started and anyone interested should contact Bonavia at 996-1299.

Pahokee's Charles Todd dies

PAHOKEE — Charles Mack Todd, 90, Glades pioneer and Pahokee's third mayor, died Thursday morning, March 1, in Cypress Hospital at Pompano Beach.

Todd, who lived at 250 S. Lake Ave., was buried in the Port Mayaca Cemetery Saturday, March 3 after funeral services at the First Methodist Church of Pahokee.

Todd and his wife of 66 years Luada lived in Pahokee since 1919. Todd was mayor of the town from 1926-28, third mayor in the town's history.

During the 60th Anniversary celebration in 1982, Todd was honored as king of the festivities.

He also served as principal of the Pahokee School, co-founder of the First United Methodist Church of Pahokee and co-founder of one the Glades first packing houses, Unity Farms in Pahokee.

Todd's entire life reflected concern for the community and his family, according to his son Basil Todd, of Margate.

"He lived a very full life, a Christian life. You name it he had it," Todd said.

Todd and his wife of 66 years, Luada had three sons.

Manager of Pahokee State Farmers Market for 20 years, Todd was also a farmer and an insurance salesman.

Todd's work for the city in the 20's included helping the city win its charter, working to establish the Bank of Pahokee and getting what is now known as SR 441 paved from Pahokee to Belle Glade.

An author, Todd had four books published, including a history of Pahokee. He was also a member of the city's Library board for several years.

A very religious man, Todd was an active member of the First United Methodist Church and taught Sunday School.

Survivors include:

His wife Luada Uldene; three sons: Roland Todd, Pahokee; Owen G. Todd, Belle Glade; and Basil M. Todd, Margate; two brothers: R.P. Todd, Delray Beach; and Byron Todd, Boynton Beach; two sisters: Kansas Todd, Pahokee; and Maggie Tombaugh, Kissimmee; 13 grandchildren, 17 great grandchildren and 3 great great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Elwyn R. Burke and the Rev. Donald Padgett.

pallbearers were the following Gideon members: Bill Thiebaud, Vernie Boots Gene Duff, Bill Willis, Robert Kelly, Charles Newman and Roger Hatten.

Wetherington Funeral Home of Pahokee had charge of the arrangements.

South Bay divides federal funds

SOUTH BAY — A total of $139,512 in federal revenue sharing funds was allocated among city departments in the city commission's regular meeting, Tuesday night, March 6.

The largest allocation was made to the public works department at $60,023. About $49,523 of this will be budgeted for a street sweeper.

Some $32,031 was allocated to the police department with $30,000 budgeted for three new patrol cars.

City Manager Lomax Harrelle told commissioners that although the federal funds would be budgeted to certain purchases, these purchases would have to eventually be individually approved by the commission.

Other allocations included about $14,554 to pay the balance on a fire truck, $10,496 for an auto to be used by the city clerk's office for administrative duties, and $5,500 for a word processor in the clerk's office. About $16,583 was allocated to the water and sewer plants.

Other agenda items included:

Harrelle reported that he had requested an additional $75,000 from Palm Beach County to allow the city to complete street improvements on N.W. 9th Ave. from Palm Beach Road to N.W. Second St.

The city had originally been allocated $100,000 from the county in the Job Bills Program. However, Harrelle said the extra funds are needed to complete the job and to help offset engineering and inspection fees for which the city is responsible.

County officials indicated the city has a very good chance of getting the extra $75,000, Harrelle said.

Harrelle also told commissioners South Bay is the first city in the county to use the job bills funds.

In related news, commissioners approved

the hiring of an engineer for the street

improvements on First

St. being funded by

Palm Beach County

Community Development.

Commissioners approved a bid of $9,481.93 for a new Congratulations, Sectional Champions!

See you in Lakeland. The Glades Central Community High School Raiders boys' basketball team is state bound. We will be joining the team, Friday and (we hope) Saturday in Lakeland and urge you to do the same. The Raiders and their fans deserve recognition for an incredible season and an especially satisfying win in the sectionals over South Plantation. Especially satisfying, because it wasn't just the five players that beat the Fort Lauderdale team, it was the hundreds of fans who made the trip. Playing on the opposition's home court with Plantation fans on them every minute of the way, the Raiders had to feel nervous. But the wild cheers and support of their fellow students in the gym helped the team pull together and silence the South Plantation through. The sectional is just a start. The Raiders have the talent to play with anyone in the state, with the support of the entire community. The Raiders emergence this year combined with the Pahokee state wide dominance the past two years, goes to show there is room for buckets in the Glades. Usually, much of the sports' enthusiasm around here is saved for the football season. However, coaches Harold Taylor, Glades Central, and Eddie Rhodes, Pahokee, have shown all of us (press included) that basketball is a reason to get excited. And with both Glades Day and Christian Day cage teams looking toward the future optimistically, who knows what next year could bring.

Vote Tuesday

Tuesday, March 13 is the day to prove you care about your country and community. Vote. Mike Underwood, Willie Marshall, Rennick Morris, Jim Shropshire and Clarence Anthony all want to have a hand in running South Bay. It's up to you to decide which of these four will represent you on the city commission. In addition, a host of candidates are asking for a chance to assume the most important position in our country. Your decision in the voting box will help determine the future of our nation. We don't tell you who we think should be elected. Rather, we urge you to look at the issues yourself. Decide what is most important to you and then vote for the candidate who best fulfills these requirements.

If you don't know the candidates or the issues, look at the stories on the front page of this paper, read other publications. Talk to your neighbors and the community leaders, find out what's going on in your city and country. Above all vote. Take the time to make a trip to your precinct's voting booth. The location of the voting booth you should vote at is listed on your voter's card. Booths will be open Tuesday, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Any questions on voting can be directed to the Palm Beach County Supervisor of Election's Office at 996-5586. We don't get many opportunities to participate in the decision making process. Don't let Tuesday slip by without showing your concern for the future of your nation and your home.

Today's collectibles were yesterday's junk

Roughly speaking, I estimate our household garbage for the year 1938 would be worth about $100,000 on today's market. That was the year I outgrew my Shirley Temple doll and my Mickey Mouse wristwatch — one had no head and the other, no hands. From under my bed, with veneration and respect, I found my mother's shelled out along with torn comic books, coverless Big Little Books, First Edition Nancy Drew mysteries, and who knows what other treasures. My toy box (it was known as the mother's nest) ransacked over. With a tube of glue it could all have been turned into gold. I only had to hang on to it for forty years. Another thing she made me do from time to time was take all the deposit bottles back to the store. Little bottles were worth 2 cents, big ones, a nickel. The other day I saw what an early Coca-Cola bottle is worth. I should have walked slower. Much, much slower. The fact of the matter is that most of what is passing today for "collectibles" was considered junk in its prime time. Take our dining room suite. Somebody did. Took it off the curb and probably retired on the proceeds. It was known as mission oak. The pieces were massive and bulky, about as graceful as a fat lady tying her shoe. They were coated in a high gloss ginger-colored varnish. Today's collectors of old oak pieces, strip the varnish and all the wood, which certainly improves the appearance, but it doesn't cure the "haunts." Oak reacts to humidity changes by emitting creaks that sound like muffled gunshots or someone walking on loose floorboards. Until I was sixteen years old I was afraid to stay home alone with it after dark. The old oak sideboard held the "good china." What we ate off every day wasn't bad china. It just didn't all come from the same litter. You could always tell when the meal was a special occasion. Everybody's plates matched and nobody was drinking out of reused peanut butter jars. (We were drinking out of a matched set the movies had given away Wednesday nights.) Carnival glass was considered "tacky." Show me a home that displayed carnival glass and I'll show you a davenport with a blue satin cushion edged with gold fringe and that poem. "Mother" pointed on it, that reads: "M is for the many things..." There were collectibles in those days, but they didn't presume to have any value. People just collected something to see how many of them they could acquire. Someone in our family collected little glass shoes, another went for china cats. I specialized in miniature jugs. I was reminded of that last week when I bought a 25-cent plastic cream pitcher because I didn't have one. Even so, it's unique; it has two lips. You can pour out of both sides at the same time. My son collected banners — triangular pieces of felt with place names painted on them, like "Niagara Falls," "Grand Canyon," "Gootsburg, South Dakota." He had them strung around his room. When he was planning to get married it was tough and go for awhile whether the last would have him because he expected to decorate their bedroom with them (or so he said). Fortunately, a compromise was effected. She agreed not to bring along her menagerie of stuffed animals. I offered to make him a bathrobe out of them, and my offer was declined. After thinking on all this I started looking around my apartment to see what I've saved for posterity. There is, of course, the old Wedgwood teapot my great grandmother owned in 1860. That was before Josiah found the formula for the flat blue and green ware of today. What I have inherited is mud brown. If he'd gone that route he'd have ended up working for somebody else. In addition, sometime in the first century somebody lost the lid to it. Tradition decrees that I pass it on to my daughter, and she to hers. Somebody in this century should have the good sense to drop it. I'm counting on my granddaughter Kristi. I do not know for sure what I have that will prove valuable to posterity. They might try looking in the back of the refrigerator, though. There's a bottle of olives in there I've had since I don't remember when. And I bet I paid more for them than my great grandfather did for that teapot. Besides, the jar still has its lid.

Ailsa Dewing

"And What Not"

Fortunately, a compromise was effected. She agreed not to bring along her menagerie of stuffed animals. I offered to make him a bathrobe out of them, and my offer was declined.

After thinking on all this I started looking around my apartment to see what I've saved for posterity. There is, of course, the old Wedgwood teapot my great grandmother owned in 1860. That was before Josiah slip the formula for the flat blue and green ware of today. What I have inherited is mud brown. If he'd gone that route he'd have ended up working for somebody else. In addition, sometime in the first century somebody lost the lid to it. Tradition decrees that I pass it on to my daughter, and she to hers. Somebody in this century should have the good sense to drop it. I'm counting on my granddaughter Kristi.

I do not know for sure what I have that will prove valuable to posterity. They might try looking in the back of the refrigerator, though. There's a bottle of olives in there I've had since I don't remember when. And I bet I paid more for them than my great grandfather did for that teapot. Besides, the jar still has its lid.

Boe family endures changes

By TOM KISKEN
PAHOKEE — In few places are there more memories of the past stored up than at the Boe's farm.

Nothing is thrown away at this farm, off SR 441 in Pahokee. Rows of outdated washing machines and other appliances line the backyard of Olaf Boe's Electrical Appliances and Gift Shop. The garage at the farm across the street from the shop is filled with antique farm machinery (all in working order). The whole estate is a living history lesson.

Yet, nowhere in the Glades are the signs of the changing times more evident than at the Boe's.

Some 12 acres of avocado groves, which have lent unique flavor to the farm for the past 25 years, are being uprooted and hauled away in favor of sugar cane.

Olaf, 80, said, "It ain't no fun, you watch those things all those years, take care of them... then..."

"We just hate to do it, it's kind of like losing part of the family," said Catherine, Olaf's wife.

The reason why row after row of avocado trees lay uprooted in the fields is two pronged, Olaf said. First, there's the lake level. In the last couple years the lake has simply risen too much for the fruit.

"Avocados won't stand wet feet," Olaf explained.

And then there is the economic feasibility. Back 25 years ago when the Boe's farm was the largest and one of the only avocado producers in Palm Beach County, the fruit sold for $15 a bushel. Today, with South American farmers taking over much of the market, an imported bushel is sold for $4-$8, Boe said.

"We're getting out of it, that's the best thing to do when you're licked," he said.

So, the Boe's hope to replace the avocados, except for a small border crop, with sugar cane, aiming for a September planting. The farm also includes mango groves, a small portion of which will be replaced by cane.

Cane is nothing new to the Boe's. In fact, Olaf, a Pahokee resident for more than 60 years, is one of the older members of the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida.

Cane, Olaf said, is a much easier crop to grow than the avocados. It takes less work and is more reliable.

Still... From the start, avocado farming was a gamble, Olaf said. In fact, only a few Glades farmers have ever tried their luck with avocados.

The Boes gave the fruit a chance, "because Daddy wanted them. He liked them, just fascinated by them," Olaf said.

For many years, the gamble paid off. Some years were real good, but usually the family just broke even and a little more, Olaf said.

At their peak, the Boe's had more than 40 acres of avocados, then the lake began to rise, the foreign competition stiffened and the family decided to switch emphasis.

But with or without the avocados the Boe's estate will remain a legacy to the past. The appliances store and gift shop, itself, is filled with more memories than many a museum.

Olaf said he first opened the store as a combined garage and blacksmith shop in 1931. Olaf repaired cars, Model T's, Model A's and old Chevy's, while a friend worked as a blacksmith.

In 1934, the Boe's transformed the garage-smithy shop into the general store and Olaf began selling television sets, radios and refrigerators among other appliances. Just another of the hat full of distinctions held by Olaf: he has the oldest Frigidaire dealership in the county.

Pahokee was just "a wonderful place" back in the 40's and 50's, Olaf said. "Everybody knew everybody and we were all friends."

It was an ideal place to raise a family, as Olaf and his wife of 50 years Catherine found out with their two children, Skeets and Olaf said his business has always been centered around the family. "The only partner I ever had was Catherine, my wife," he said.

While Olaf was running the business enterprises and raising his family, his father Robert Erik and brother Hugo tended the crops which included beans, cane, corn and (of course) avocados.

Over the years, the family business grew but always strived to keep a flavor of the past with them.

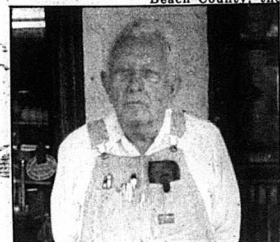

Today, in basically the same shop built over 50 years ago, the family sells a variety of appliances and household items with an emphasis on china, crystal and dishes of all types ranging from beautiful antiques to regular dinner sets. Olaf said they still offer all the same services they did 53 years ago.

Skeets, Olaf's son, manages the family business and also owns a car repair shop, B&B Auto Inc. and The Hair Design store, in Pahokee.

The biggest change at the Boe's is at the fields. However, even here the remaining avocado trees which will soon border acres of sugar cane serve as a memento of the past.

SKEETS BOE stands under one of the few remaining avocado trees at the Boe's farm in Pahokee.

JEWEL CRANE, right, and Helen McCormick leaf through some of the hundreds of letters inquiring about the lake.

Chamber flooded with inquiries about lake

BELLE GLADE -- "Would you be so good and send down some information about fishing and camps on Lake Okeechobee."

If they've heard it once, Helen McCormick and Jewel Crane, down at the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce have heard it at least 250 times.

Both women run the day Mrs. Crane, chamber executive secretary, told a woman associated with the Miami Herald to forward inquiries about the lake to the chamber office. The reporter printed Mrs. Crane's offer in the Herald's Action Line column Monday, Feb. 27 and things have been going haywire ever since.

Tuesday morning, the mailman came with an extra large bundle for the chamber ladies, filled with 62 letters from Action Line readers asking about the lake.

That was just the start, the next day the mailman was struggling under the burden of 88 letters for the chamber. By Monday, the chamber received 108 more letters, a total of 268.

"I'm going to shoot that woman, if I ever see her again," Mrs. Crane said with a rueful smile.

Actually, the ladies fully appreciate the value of the publicity they're getting, they just wish it didn't all come in one tremendous logjam.

The mail came from all over the nation as far away as Milwaukee, Wisc. and as close as West Palm Beach.

"It's amazing some of these people so near know so little about us and the lake," Mrs. Crane said, pointing to a stack of letters from Jensen Beach, Stuart and Fort Pierce.

Every letter is being answered. Neither rain, nor fingers, nor faulty typewriters will keep the chamber from responding to each inquiry.

"I've been going at it all day yesterday, and all morning today," said chamber office secretary Mrs. McCormick, who is working Thursday.

By Monday, the chamber ladies had answered about 200 of the letters, only 58 more to go, or at least until the next shipment.

Mrs. McCormick is sending each letter writer a package which includes listings of the local motels and camps, a map of the lake and area, a pamphlet on the Belle Glade Recreation Area and information from both local fish camps, Slim's and J-Mark.

"If they've got the facilities (in Belle Glade) we'll fill them up," Mrs. Crane said, noting that if even if just a small percentage of the people respond, Belle Glade could be a PAHOKEE -- Pahokee Chamber of Commerce directors unanimously voiced their opposition to a proposal which would delay Pahokee and Canal Point elementary school construction for at least three years.

The proposal, scheduled to be heard by the Palm Beach County School Board Wednesday night, March 14, would move a proposed Twin Lakes school project in front of the local project on the school board's priority list.

The enhancement of Pahokee Elementary School and the construction of new Canal Point Elementary School has already been approved by the school board. But these plans would be delayed until 1987, if the Twin Lakes proposal, brought up by school board member Hugh McMillan, is approved. Chamber President James Bennett said, "What Mr. McMillan wants to do is take funds from Canal Pointing and Pahokee and give them to Twin Lakes."

Directors approved a resolution stating their opposition to any delays in the local project.

"If a change is made to not continue with the immediate plan of new construction of the Canal Point and Pahokee schools, the entire area will suffer severe and long lasting damage," the resolution read.

Several chamber directors indicated they would be present to voice their opposition at the school board meeting.

In addition to the setback local education would suffer, directors also pointed to other factors in explaining their discontent.

"It's the fact that East Palm Beach County is telling West Palm Beach County where to go. We're treated like we're step children," Bennett said.

Bennett suggested chamber directors consider working toward annexing Pahokee out of Palm Beach County, if prejudice toward the Glades continues.

In other chamber business:

Bennett said the chamber would accelerate its membership drive efforts in the last two weeks of March. Each director will be given a list of former members and potential new members to contact.

Directors approved a $3,000 contract for the Freedom Festival fireworks show. The contract represents a $500 increase over last year's expenditure. Reportedly, this year's show will include more fireworks and a special American Flag firework display. The chamber will explore the possibility of bringing donkey ball, basketball played while riding donkeys, to Pahokee. A company is circulating a pamphlet in which it offers towns a cut of the profits if they provide gym and players for a donkey ball night.

Bennett told directors that not one Pahokee resident was named to the county commissioners recently appointed Private Industry Council, due apparently to lack of nominations. He said in the future the chamber should make sure Pahokee gets involved in county activities.

The Older Americans Act

By U.S. Senator Paul Hawkins

The Older Americans Act is the umbrella program that provides a variety of services — such as Meals on Wheels and Senior Employment Service for the elderly in America.

This spring, the Senate will vote on reauthorizing the act so the programs it can continue. The Older Americans Act is popular and effective legislation, and I foresee no obstacle to its continuation.

However, the reauthorization process gives Congress the opportunity to improve the programs under the Older Americans Act, and to that end I recently contacted a group of Floridians to see how we could better meet their needs.

I received a variety of thoughtful responses and many specific suggestions, all of which merit careful evaluation. For example, one response newspaper, he recalled, I saw time and again. The response was a recommendation that more should be done to reach the frail and poor among the elderly.

The Action Line column, like the photo, must make an extra effort to reach this group of older Americans. Poverty and poor health can isolate the elderly and defeat the purpose of community programs.

For this reason, I was pleased to join in sponsoring legislation that would provide funds to states to coordinate all community-based and home health services; identify elderly and disabled individuals at risk of institutionalization; and provide basic in-home support services, such as a visiting homemaker or health aide, to those who qualify.

Home health care often is more beneficial to the patient and can result in enormous cost savings over the long run. Fortunately, Congress is beginning to recognize the value of home health care for the elderly and disabled, but more needs to be done. Unless we develop an effective network of community-based services, the number of people in nursing homes — including those who do not need round-the-clock care — will skyrocket.

Preventing unnecessary institutionalization is crucial to the well-being of the elderly. It's a particularly important issue in states like Florida, which have large elderly populations.

Another issue that many of those I polled focused on was the importance of the Senior Employment Service. As one letter writer told me, this program "has put groceries on our table with honor."

Many have asked that this program be expanded so they can work more hours, and they have recommended that jobs could be better tailored to experience. These are among the many suggestions I will be exploring during the reauthorization hearings.

A Jacksonville woman summed up the comments of many when she wrote this: "The Older Americans Act has brought recognition to the American senior citizen that no other program has been able to accomplish. The Senior Employment program, I have seen firsthand, has given pride and a feeling of self-worth to the senior who finds employment and becomes a contributor to our work force. Nutrition programs facilitate a wholesome meal for the senior. The communities need more funds to provide transportation to the meal site... and home-bound services. In essence, funds for the Older Americans Act are well spent, fiscally sound, and highly beneficial to the senior."

Two drug arrests made

Two drug arrests were made during the past week by Glades Sub Station Palm Beach County officials and members of the Organizational Crime Bureau.

On Tuesday, March 6, two Pahokee men were arrested after reportedly selling marijuana to an undercover agent.

Saturday, March 3, two South Bay men were arrested in a South Bay pool hall on possession and selling drug charges.

On Tuesday, James Thomas, 40, 132 Cypress Ave., was arrested for selling marijuana, possession of marijuana and cocaine and possession of marijuana with intent to sell. Gary Byrd, 23, 170 Apple Green Court, Pahokee, was charged with conspiracy to sell marijuana, possession of marijuana with intent to sell and possession of cocaine.

According to the sub station's report, Byrd arranged a deal for an undercover agent to purchase marijuana from Thomas in front of the residence of 154 E. Third St. in Pahokee.

Each man was booked under a $1,000 bond. The arrests came after several complaints about transactions at the E. Third residence.

On Saturday, Willie Nelson, 29, Jimmy Lou Court, South Bay, was charged with selling marijuana to an undercover agent at about 11:40 p.m., Saturday at Lintos Pool Hall in South Bay.

Also arrested at Lintos Pool Hall was Larry Nelson, 25, 295 N.W. 12th Ave., South Bay, charged with possession of marijuana over 20 grams with intent to sell and possession of cocaine with intent to sell.

According to the sub station report, Northern was in the pool hall at the time Nelson was apprehended and tried to discard a purse with 40 packages of marijuana and 16 packages of cocaine. Agents retrieved the drugs.

Nelson was booked under a $1,000 bond and Northern was booked under a $3,000 bond.

Raiders aim for state hoop crown

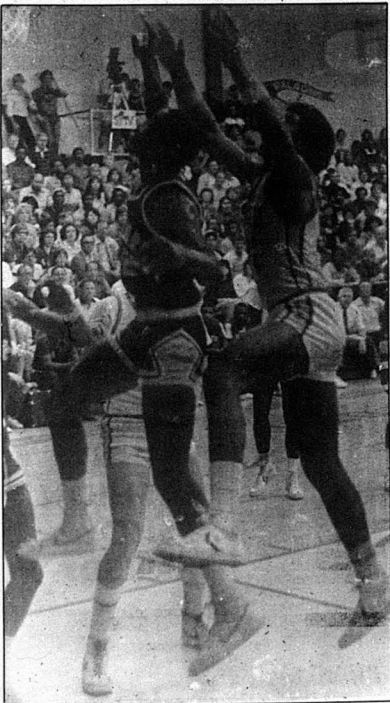

By TOM KISKEN
BELLE GLADE - The Raiders, of Glades Central Community High School, search for state basketball treasure in Lakeland this week.
 "I think if we rebound well and don't commit turnovers, we'll win it," Coach Harold Taylor said of his team's chances against the three other top AAA teams in the state tourney held Thursday through Saturday.
 The Raiders, fifth ranked in the state, battle third ranked Tallahassee Godby Friday in the opening round Friday, at 3:30 p.m. in Lakeland.
 If they win the season lasts one more day, with the championship game against either South Fork or Tampa Jesuit, at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.
 Tickets can be bought at the gate, according to Glades Central officials.
 The Raider's opening round game is especially crucial, Taylor said. "Whoever wins that game is going to be the favorite (in the title game)," he stated.

 Godby, with a 29-3 record, boasts a well balanced, very athletic team.
 Four of the five starters are counted on as offensive weapons, Taylor said, adding that Godby's front line is especially strong. The team is fairly well disciplined.
 Against this makeup, the Raiders present starters: Terry Givens, forward; Rhondy Weston, forward; Nate Johnston, center; David Givens, guard; Charles Dowers, guard; and sixth man Tommi Lee Anderson, forward.
 Givens, 6-foot-3, Weston, 6-foot-5 and Johnston, 6-foot-7, will be counted on to provide inside muscle and points, Taylor said. All season long, the Raiders have depended on their big front line for offense, and that philosophy certainly won't change at state.

 "The key to any game is who controls the inside," Taylor said.
 By controlling the tempo and not committing turnovers, the backcourt can help dictate the inside edge, he said. Givens and Dowers will be expected to keep tight reigns over the Raider's ball control offense. Defensively, both guards will be asked to stop the opponent's outside game as they have done all season long.
 If the backcourt and frontcourt can both put forth their best performances, the Raiders should come home champs, Taylor summarized.
 The pressure of the state tourney will play a very big role, Taylor said. "Like always its going to be who plays well under pressure."
 One question mark facing the Raiders is the health of Weston, who turned an ankle in the sectional victory over South Plantation, Saturday night. Although on crutches Monday, Weston, the team's leading scorer, played in practice Tuesday.

 The rest of the team is reported to be in fine health.
 While Taylor said the Raiders would be favored in a championship game over South Fork or Tampa Jesuit, he is by no means discounting either. At this point all the teams are top quality, he said.
 South Fork, sixth ranked in the state, is a running team, while Tampa Jesuit depends more on the inside game.
 Taylor said he would rather face South Fork in the championship game, because the Raiders match up well with the squad from Stuart.

Glades Central wins sectional

SOUTH PLANTATION The Glades Central Raiders earned a shot at the state basketball title with a 56-58 victory over South Plantation in the Section 4A finals, Saturday, March 3.
 The Raiders used aggressive inside play and fine marksmanship to gun down Plantation. The Raiders led most of the way, but had to struggle to stave several Plantation rallies.
 Terry Givens, with 29 points, sparked the Raiders. Givens hit 10-12 from the field in the last three quarters, while missing just two of 11 free throws.
 Nate Johnston, the 6-foot-7 center, asserted himself offensively with 21 points. Playing on an ankle injured early in the game, Rhondy Weston scored 12 points and rebounded well.
 Coach Harold Taylor said his team shot as well, 73 percent from the floor, as it has all season.
 The Raiders also showed poise in the second half, holding off Plantation, Taylor said.
 Rebounding and ball control hurt the Raiders and will have to be improved in state tourney play, he commented.
 With hundreds of Glades Central students cheering their team on in the enemy gym, the Raiders torched out a slight cushion in the early going. After one quarter the Raiders led by three, and went into halftime with a five point edge.
 Weston and Givens, after a slow start, kept the team together in the first half. Weston, in particular, came up with several key rebounds.
 However, the 26-3 Paladins showed their ability in the third quarter. Forcing errors and scoring on breakaways, South Plantation blitzed the Raiders with a 8-2 burst to take a two-point lead.
 Taylor called a timeout and the Raiders were able to regroup. Johnston hit two successive baskets, while Givens excelled from the charity line and the field and Glades Central re-built its five-point edge.
 Late in the game, Plantation climbed back within three, but could get no closer as the Raiders used their delay offense to force fouls and score easy baskets.
 As the buzzer sounded, the Glades Central contingency hit the floor and swarmed over their sectional champions.
 The Raiders travel to Lakeland and play Tallahassee Godby, Friday, March 9 at 3:30 p.m.

THE scoreboard and the Raider fans tell the whole story.

CDS wins baseball opener

BELLE GLADE - The Crusader boys baseball team started things off on the right foot, beating Moore Haven there, 6-4, Monday night, March 5.
 The Crusaders jumped to a quick 3-0 lead and then held off the Terriers for the win.
 John Mullins pitched a fine game for the Crusaders with 15 strikeouts, giving up only one hit.
 James Barnwell had a two RBI double for the Crusaders to spark the early uprising.

Application received for Kissimmee project

JACKSONVILLE — The Jacksonville District of the Army Corps of Engineers received an application for a Department of the Army permit from the South Florida Water Management District (SFWMD) for a "demonstration project" for Phase I of the restoration of the Kissimmee River project, according to Col. Alfred B. Devereaux, Jr., district engineer. A public notice to this effect was published and distributed by the Jacksonville District on February 9, 1984.

John Adams, chief of the Jacksonville District's Regulatory Division, said that a previously submitted application by the SFWMD with a similar purpose, and now referred to as Phase II, would have taken too long to process since the proposed activities appeared to adversely affect the flood control and navigation functions of the project, and, accordingly, require the preparation of an Environmental Impact Statement and congressional approval.

The SFWMD working in close cooperation with the Army Corps of Engineers and the Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) prepared the new Phase I application and submitted it in near record time. The alternative encompassing the revised application will provide earlier test results on the impacts and costs of restoring flows into the river's oxbows while at the same time minimizing adverse effects on the congressionally authorized functions of navigation and flood control.

Adams added that the applicant, in its Phase I permit application, proposes a "Water Plan" as a method of achieving this purpose. This plan focuses around the construction of three sheet pile walls in pool "B" between structures S-65A and S-65B of Canal C-38 for diverting flows into the original riverbed. The design of these walls will allow full navigation capacity at least to the authorized project depth of three feet.

Asolo Theatre to present 'Promenade, All' in BG

Florida's famed Asolo State Theatre will bring its acclaimed production of David Robinson's hit Broadway comedy, "Promenade, All!" to Belle Glade on Thursday, March 15, for a one time only performance at the Dolly Hand Center under the local sponsorship of Palm Beach Junior College/ Glades. Reservations for this special performance may be made by phoning 996-3055.

An American cavalcade that rolls no drums for empire, "Promenade, All!" simply tells our story American in its transitions of almost 100 years — with rare good humor and theatrical verve.

It opens almost as a tynpse of the Victorian era, complete with that time's innocence and its hungry aggressiveness; traits recalled through the members of the Huntzinger family, whose patriarch is a prominent button manufacturer. Twenty-five years later, in the roaring Twenties, the nation has just emerged from World War I, the family is now patriotically known as Hunt; and a slick young entrepreneur of a son is anxious to expand the family business. By 1945, the Hunt firm is making airplane parts, but the heir apparent has other plans for his life. And 25 years after that, when there is no male to assume the leadership of an international conglomerate, a new voice is heard.

Through the changing times and mores, the varied patterns of the dance suggested by the play's title, the constant is Willie Huntzinger/Hunt. From his youth into his nineties, his unregenerate zest for life endures.

Players who like their theater theatrical will relish "Promenade All!" The comedy, which originally starred Richard Backus, Anne Jackson, Eli Wallach, and Hume Cronyn, has an amusing premise, believable characters, and superb dialogue. It also provides a field day for talented actors, for four company members portraying 17 different roles.

Cast in multiple parts are A.D. Cover, William Morgan, Carl N. Wallnau, and Colleen Smith Wallnau. Cover has played lead roles at the Meadow Brook, Coconut Grove, American Players, Caldwell and Alaska Repertory Theatres, and for the Alabama Shakespeare Festival. Mr. Morgan has worked extensively in Los Angeles and on national television, as well as in theater education. Mr. Wallnau, across the country, has played the title roles in "Tartuffe" and "Richard III," among many others. Ms. Smith Wallnau, lighted Asolo audiences last season in her many roles in "The Dining Room," as Catherine in "A View From the Bridge" and "Conjur Woman in 'Dark of the Moon.'"

Asolo's production of "Promenade All!" is directed by its acclaimed artistic director, John Ulmer. Design credits go to Henry Swanson for scenery, Catherine King for costumes, and Martin Petlock for lighting. Patricia Halpou serves as stage manager and Bert Taylor is responsible for sound.

The Florida portion of this program is supported in part by the State of Florida, Department of State Division of Cultural Affairs; the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency; the William G. Selby and Marie Selby Foundation; and the State Theater Board of Florida. Overall sponsorship of "Promenade All!" tour is by Asolo State Theater, Inc. Co. produced at Asolo State Theater by William R. Hough & Co.

Jubilee parade route set

BELLE GLADE - The Black Gold Jubilee Parade will include several changes this year, according to Carol Haller, chairman of the parade committee.

Lineup for the parade, slated for Saturday, April 14 beginning at 10:30 a.m., will be along Ave. L from Ninth St. to Main St. The route will take marchers along Main St. to McDonald Park.

Judges will be at a review stand near the corner of W. Canal St. N. and Main St.

The number of awards to be given out has been increased. Cash awards have been eliminated in favor of trophies. Trophies will be awarded to the winners of the following float events: School, business, organization, appearance, out-of-town and humor.

Trophies will also be given to winners in marching band, color guard and youth marching unit contests.

The school and humor float categories are new this year, along with the youth marching band category. Haller said the new events were aimed to get children involved. "We want to encourage the schools and the kids to come out," she said.

Letters of invitations for the parade have been sent out to all schools, many organizations and out-of-town groups. There is no entry fee and invitations are extended to all businesses and groups.

Applications can be picked up at the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce. For more information contact the Chamber of Commerce before 5 p.m., or Haller after 5 p.m. at 996-1707.

STEVE WEEKS ladles a bowl of chili for Doris Priest, at the ARC's fund raising dinner, Wednesday, Feb. 29.

ARC chili supper a success

BELLE GLADE - About 260 people enjoyed the chili dinner and salad prepared by the Belle Glade Association for Retarded Citizens, Wednesday, Feb. 29, at the Belle Glade Civic Center.

Carol Haller, ARC program coordinator, estimated the organization made about $800 from the dinner.

The profits will go to supplement ARC's budget. ARC President Terry Lino said the organization would not be able to meet its budget without the support of the community in fund raising events.

Haller agreed, "We greatly appreciate all donations and volunteer workers. It (the dinner) was a job and it took a lot of people," she said.

While the ARC has an annual salad luncheon, this was the first year they served a dinner. Haller said the association was very satisfied with the results.

The annual salad luncheon is currently being organized and is tentatively planned for later this month, she added.

In other ARC news: Deola Oakley, South Bay, won $50 in gas in the giveaway contest sponsored by the ARC staff. Winning names were drawn Thursday, March 1.

THE ARC's salad bar was a major attraction at the chili dinner.

Pahokee Garden Club plans Ft. Myers trip

The Pahokee Garden Club met February 21 in Florida Federal Community Room with President Tina Elliott presiding.

After leading the pledge of allegiance to the flag, Mrs. Marion Bleach showed an American flag which had flown over the U.S. capitol and told how she acquired it.

The president recognized the following visitors: Mrs. Elva Jackson of Largo, Florida; Mrs. Alan Ollis of New York State; Mrs. Judy Fancher of Sylva, Ala.; Mrs. Esther Hundley of Hiwassee, Ga.; Mrs. Nita Kern of Brandon, Fla.; Mrs. Frances Lockhart of Pahokee. Mrs. Elliott displayed a chive plant and reminded members how easy it is to grow herbs.

Mrs. Glemma Helvy reported on the trip to Fort Myers planned for April 17. The deadline for reservations is March 15 and money must be paid by March 20. After March 15 any places not filled by the garden club will be open to the public.

Mrs. Bernice Simonson told about the 11th World Orchid Conference and exhibit to be held in Miami at the Coconut Grove Exhibition Center March 8-12.

This is a rare opportunity as the conference is held once every three years in various parts of the world. Glades residents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carpenter and Mr. Rupert Mock Jr. are involved.

The club voted to assist in landscaping the cemetery at Port Mayaca.

Program Chairman Bernice Simonson introduced Mrs. Helen Patton of Lake Park who is District X Roadside Beautification and Civic Development Chairman, whose job it is to encourage planting of wild flowers along interstates and other highways.

She talked of "Paths of Sunshine" designed to create an aura of yellow wild flowers along highways and "Operation Wild Flower" encouraging planting of all kinds of wild flowers.

Prior to the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Sarah Parnell and Mrs. Mazella Brower.

The group adjourned to the Lake Club for a Dutch treat dinner honoring Mrs. Betty Mueller, an active member, who is moving to Georgia. She was presented a gift from the club.

Harvest Queen to reign during Festival, entrants sought

BELLE GLADE -- Listen up girls. The 1984 Harvest Queen pageant is set and applications are being accepted.

The pageant, organized by the Belle Glade Lion's Club and held in conjunction with the Black Gold Jubilee, is scheduled for Friday night, April 13 at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center.

Potential contestants should contact Bret McCormick, Lion's president, at 996-6961 or Cathy Lee, pageant coordinator. Contestants must be age 16-21, single and residents of the Belle Glade, South Bay area.

McCormick said contestants are coming together well. So far, eight girls have indicated they will compete and 23 sponsors have been located.

In other Black Gold activities, the jubilee's steering committee voted unanimously to allow the Belle Glade Junior Women's Club to hold a Little Miss and Mr. Belle Glade contest on Thursday, April 5.

A representative of the junior women's organization said the club was hoping to get about 50 children, up to 6-years-old to compete in the contest. The contest will probably include a Tiny Miss and Mr. contest for those under 3-years of age. More information will be forthcoming.

Jeannie Olson, of the Florida Sugar Cane League, told committee members the poster contest which the league is organizing in area elementary schools is going well. Students in grades kindergarten to second and third to fifth are drawing posters which either relate to the Black Gold theme: "Belle Glade-It's People, It's Pride," or to the world's largest sugar cane.

Posters will be picked up and judged on Friday, April 6. Winning posters will be displayed in the Belle Glade Municipal Library.

Questions about the posters can be directed to Jeannie Olson at the Sugar Cane League, 996-8282.

The world's largest sugar cane is looking good, John Pitts reported to the committee. Pitts expressed confidence that a method of construction had been developed which will give the jubilee a solid, nice looking (and huge) cube.

A sample cube will be presented to the jubilee committee at their next meeting, Friday, March 9, Pitts said.

Charlita Sizemore announced that ads for the jubilee booklet are being completed. The committee sold 74 $100 ads for the booklet, she said.

In other news Coca Cola will not have a soda wagon at the jubilee. In their place will be Pepsi Cola.
